

LOOKING FOR A CAREER... What's On This Weekend

Anyone not sure of the career path they would like to follow should use one of the university or TAFESA online course navigators. These ask students a variety of general questions and then give a list of careers that could be of interest or provide information about a myriad of occupations. You don't have to do a university course; it is designed to give you some ideas.

This term in long home group, we have looked at TafeSA and University new courses for 2019. Engineering, Software Engineering, Technology and Scientific Research are a focus this year. Also, we have gone through the SATAC application process for tertiary studies. See the attached YouTube clip from for parents and students to help them in the process.

Tertiary Open Days: visitors can have campus tours, experience hands on activities, speak to current students and lecturers and besides having a fun day can pick up lots of information.
